Centris Federal Credit Union Launches New Round-Up Savings Program

OMAHA – It just became easier to save at Centris Federal Credit Union.

The credit union has launched Centris Round-Up, a new program members can enroll in that will round up each debit card purchase they make to the next whole dollar and then transfer that round-up amount out of their checking and into their chosen savings account.

“It’s a fantastic way to increase savings without even thinking about it,” said Julie Strohfus, vice president of product at Centris, who personally saved $63 in one month after enrolling in the program.

It works like this. If your debit card purchase is $25.95, it’s rounded up to $26, and 5 cents is deposited in your savings account from your checking account. For a purchase that ends on the whole dollar, like $25, it’s rounded up to $26, and $1 is deposited in your savings account from your checking account.

The round-up transfers occur as soon as the transaction posts to a member’s account. The program applies to all debit cards on the named account. Strohfus said the program does not apply to ATM transactions, reoccurring debit card transactions and bill payment transactions.

For questions or to enroll in Centris Round-Up, visit any Centris location, send a secure message through online banking or call 800-334-2328.

*Centris Federal Credit Union, founded in 1934, is one of Nebraska’s largest federally chartered community credit unions.
